Q: how to register and use a named pipe I'm fairly new to Qt and want to make a simple serial client/server program. I have found many examples on this site and on the web, but none seem to be properly explaining how to implement a named pipe server/client. I'm using Visual Studio 2008 on Windows XP. I have a named pipe and client and server code, but for some reason I cant seem to get the server to read from the named pipe. EDIT: I have changed the name of the server code to replicate the question posted to stack overflow.

```
Server.cpp #include #include #include #include #include #include #include #include #include "server.h" QPipe server; QString hostName; QString portNumber; void displayError(QString err) { qDebug()
```
